Madison County judge forced into retirement

By Sanford J. Schmidt
Staff writer

MADISON COUNTY

The Southern District of Illinois said Tuesday that a series of concerns led to the forced retirement of Judge Paul Riley of Edwardsville.

Chief Judge J. Phil
Gilbert held a news conference at the U.S. Courthouse in East St. Louis to discuss the events leading up to the court's decision last month to force Riley off the bench.

Retiring Riley was a difficult process, Gilbert said, because of the need to protect the public's right to know while respecting Riley's right to privacy.

Gilbert said he received a letter Monday from Jean Riley, Paul Riley's wife, in which she acknowledged that the former judge is unable to fully appreciate his condi-

Attorney talks to McCabe about indefinite committal

By Dennis Grubaugh
Staff writer

A judge on Tuesday
allowed a convicted rapist more time to talk to his attorney about the state's request to keep him in prison as a sexually violent offender.

Madison County Associate
Judge
James Hackett delayed any action on the Illinois

Attorney General's petition to indefinitely commit Jerry

Lee McCabe, 46, formerly of Pontoon Beach.

McCabe is expected to be transferred today from Graham Correctional Center
in Hillsboro to the Sheridan Correctional Center, where he will be kept pending the outcome of the state's request to have him committed under the Illinois
Sexually Violent Persons Commitment Act.

Hackett eventually must determine if there is probable cause to call for a trial.
He granted a continuance at the request of McCabe's attorney, Steve Griffin of Wood River, who was appointed to the case shortly before Tuesday's hearing.

McCabe has an arrest record for sex crimes dating to 1978, when he was charged with the rape of a 20-year-old Granite City woman in a car on a school parking lot. He was convicted in the case, but later was acquitted after an appeals court reversed the conviction.

In early 1980, he was arrested in Florida for rapping a 52-year-old woman and

Specially decorated vehicle offers free rides to passengers during holiday season

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

Those using the Madison County Transit System over the holidays will feel the spirit of Christmas if they choose to ride the Santa Bus.

The exterior of the 40-foot long vehicle is decked with large bows and glitters from top to bottom with holiday lights, while the interior features lighted reindeer, holiday packages and a driver sporting a Santa hat. Coupled with the fact that its service is free, passengers will reach their destinations without reaching into their wallets or purses.

Paul Powell shaped politics of Illinois in peculiar ways

By Anthony Mann

The name Paul Powell was on everyone's lips at about this time of year almost 30 years ago. While the name probably means nothing to most Illinoisans today, Powell's story is a fascinating one and there are similarities to current-day politics.

A new book, "Paul Powell of Illinois: A Lifelong Democrat," explains how the man from Vienna became a three-term speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives and was elected twice as secretary of state.

Along the way, Powell won the devotion of many followers, personal and political, and he amassed a fortune far greater than an honest public servant could earn.

That fortune - actually the way that the fortune was discovered - guaranteed Powell's place in Illinois political history. His 1970 death might not be remarkable except that his associates said they discovered hundreds of thousands of dollars in cash, much supposedly contained in shoe boxes, in Powell's hotel suite in Springfield.

In the book, published by Southern Illinois University Press, journalist Robert E. Hartley explains that Powell became and remained a political force in Southern Illinois the same way many politicians operate today. He was a master at bringing home projects and government patronage jobs for his constituents. Some good came from his efforts. He was instrumental in obtaining the money that transformed Southern Illinois University from a small teacher's college into a major research institution.

Much of the time it was good for Powell. The book details Powell's championing of the horse racing industry. He managed to push through legislation that guaranteed financial success for harness racing. In return, he got huge amounts of racetrack stock at bargain prices, allowing him to immediately reap big profits. More came through consulting fees and salary payments.

Besides racetrack payoffs and other kinds of kickbacks, his wealth came from campaign contributions in the form of $100 bills, salaries and other rewards from business owners and other associates and even skimming profits from state Capitol vending machines.

Even though Powell never earned a salary greater than $30,000, the cash portion of Powell's estate totaled $800,000. The total estate was worth $3.2 million - and that was before the super-high inflation of the 1970s.

For those intrigued by the money, here are some tidbits: • Of the $800,000 cash, the money that supposedly was in hotel suite shoeboxes totaled $454,844. Of that, $567,900 was in $100 bills. Actually, Hartley writes, it was one shoebox and lots of other containers. Also, he believes it is more likely that the hotel story was made up after the money was actually discovered in Powell's Capitol office.

• The feds ended up with the biggest share, $1.5 million for unpaid taxes.

Other money went to Marge Hensley and Lucille Koval, whose companionship he enjoyed for close to 20 years, even while the twice-widowed politician was married. Hensley was the one who was in Powell's hotel suite - she said in a separate bedroom the night he died - and discovered him dead. Hensley's bequest was $760,000, and Koval got $91,000.

Hartley now lives in the Denver area, yet he found the story compelling enough to write a book about an Illinois politician. One reason is his Illinois background.

When Powell died, Hartley was editor of the Lindsay-Schaub Newspapers, which included the Decatur Herald & Review and the Southern Illinoisian. The Southern Illinoisian was the first newspaper to carry an account of the cash after the executor of Powell's estate approached the newspaper's editor with the story at a Christmas party.

More important, Hartley said, is he sees Powell as one of the most interesting figures in Illinois political history, and said he got hooked on the story while writing an historical paper.

"It was hypnotic," he said in an interview. "I couldn't get away from it. I'd put it aside, or try to put it aside for several days or weeks or something, and I was just kind of drawn back to it."

He said, "The issues of Powell's life and work are as fresh as cable news."

Ryan becomes respun conservative

By Don Thompson

Whoever would have thought that dyed-in-the-wool conservative George Ryan would be respun into Illinois' third moderate Republican governor?

Certainly not right-wing Republicans, who feel betrayed by a man they thought was only wearing sheep's clothing during last year's election. "Last year, when he was running so hard away from his (conservative GOP) base, I said he'd been invaded by aliens," said Jack Roeser, president of the Carpentersville-based Family Taxpayers Network. "He's turned himself inside out from what he used to be."

Never has that been clearer than this past week, when Ryan demanded that lawmakers enact a faulty crime bill that makes it a felony to illegally transport a weapon. Irate Senate Republicans accused him of selling out to Democratic Chicago Mayor Richard Daley and Cook County State's Attorney Richard Devine, though Republican prosecutors like Attorney General Jim Ryan and DuPage County's Joseph Birkett also backed the effort.

Less noticed was the delivery to Ryan of a report he commissioned to study hate crimes, which included the recommendation that the state specifically bar discrimination based on sexual orientation under its Human Rights Act.

If Ryan acts on the recommendations, "I think that would signal a break with a sizable traditional constituency," said conservative commentator Tom Roeser (no relation to Jack). "The one thing that could hurt him, I think, is the investment in gay rights. But I don't know how far that will go."

Others are more upset that Ryan sought and received tax increases on liquor and vehicles last spring to fund his $12 billion building program, at a time of unprecedented prosperity.

"What I'm hearing from folks back home, they're angry. And the people who are the angriest are my fellow precinct committeemen - not at the man, but at the policies. The perception in the field where I come from is that people now have to pay an unnecessary tax increase of $600 million," said state Sen. Chris Lauzen, the Aurora Republican who most vocally criticized the tax boosts.

And then when they see monopoly protection given to what many people consider political cronies, monopoly protection for fabulously successful business people who happen to be active politically, and then property tax credits given to a business owner that are not given to the guy who lives next door - it makes them mad," Lauzen said in reference to the gambling and liquor deals.

It doesn't help, said Lauzen and Jack Roeser, that Ryan faces a drum beat of questions about the scandal in which Ryan employees traded drivers' licenses for campaign contributions while he was secretary of state. Or that he backed landmark gambling and liquor law changes for Arlington International Racecourse owner Richard Duchossois, Rosemont Mayor Donald Stephens, and Chicago Blackhawks owner William Wirtz.

For good measure, Ryan earlier this fall sided with the Rev. Jesse Jackson in a dispute with the Decatur school board over discipline of black students there. And he dined with Fidel Castro on a trip to Cuba that endeared him to Latino leaders and free-trade advocates, but enraged anti-Communists particularly in the Cuban community. All that could spell over and hurt GOP front-runner George W. Bush next year, said Jack Roeser, because Ryan is chairing Bush's Illinois campaign.

There are two schools of thought on why Ryan hasn't worried about upsetting conservatives.

The first is that the 65-year-old governor doesn't plan to run for re-election in three years, so he can do what he pleases. The second is that he already is plotting his re-election by moving to the middle.

"All of these issues are hot-button for those who are at the fringes. They foam at the mouth over these things, but when push comes to shove, they don't represent the mainstream of Illinois voters," said Charles Wheeler III, a Statehouse veteran and University of Illinois at Springfield professor. "In the general election, all these things are the kind of thing that helped him beat (conservative) Illinois voters," said Charles Wheeler.

"Upsetting the right-wing gun nuts is bad in the primary," Wheeler said, "but who's going to run against him? Jim Ryan? Jim Ryan is on the same side on this."

That's also Ryan's calculation in his showdown with GOP Senate President James "Pete" Philip of Wood Dale, said a top Ryan strategist.

"The base that Pete continually insists he's speaking for is probably not part of the base that put Ryan in office," he said. "The base that he's talking about voted for Glenn Poshard. The base that elected us is for this."

State Sen. Dan Cronin, a Republican from Elmhurst, is hoping Ryan will mend fences by backing an election-year tax cut or holiday, and by adopting tougher standards for schools and teachers of the sort being backed by business groups.

Cronin also agrees with Ryan on the gun issue. He will take some heat from some members of the Republican Party, but he's been consistent - he's done what he thinks is right," Cronin said. "Years ago, he came out in favor of the assault weapons ban, so I don't think this is a calculated position on his part. I think there's a certain amount of politics, there's a certain amount of gamesmanship, but, generally speaking, I think he's genuine in terms of where he is on the issue."

Farmer named Venice's interim superintendent

served as an elementary school counselor, high school principal and high school history teacher.

Farmer said his main goal is to improve students' education.

"I want to try to understand the way the district operates, and try to see what things we can do to help improve the education of the children," he said. "We need to remember that the children are the reason that we're here, and we should try to focus everything on their best education possible."

Specifically, he said preparing for statewide testing is critical and he will have to "constantly monitor" the district's finances.

Recently released statewide test results showed that the majority of the Venice district's 250-plus students performed below state averages.

Finances are also a major concern because of the loss of more than one-third of the student body because they were not residents of the district.

While that will not affect the immediate financial picture of the district, in the long term it is expected to have serious effects.

While Farmer is serving as superintendent, the district will conduct a structured search, using Consulting and Resource Group Inc., a Monticello-based firm.

"I think what we're really looking for now is an all-around person who has experience in small school districts," said Board President Alvester Salmond.

"It has been very difficult. Mr. Vickers has come in and done a beautiful job of getting us all together and bringing the district back into a calm state," she said. "It seems that things are now beginning to go forward."

Vickers said he was not sure how he would use his remaining eight days, but said he plans to give the board a written report on the district's financial condition.

Riley's health problems concerned court officials

"I wish the public might remember Paul's years of dedicated public service, rather than be curious about recent problems, which clearly are a symptom of his ill health," Jean Riley said.

Gilbert said his inquiry into the effects of Riley's health on his performance began about a year ago.

U.S. Marshal Terry Delaney, who has been a friend of Riley for years, came to Gilbert with a concern about an apparent change in the judge's personality and attitude.

Gilbert said Riley appeared to be confused and irrational during meetings, and other judges, including appellate court judges, began to notice that the judge's reasoning was not always rational.

Before a July 1997 transient ischemic attack, there was no sign of a problem with Riley's performance. In fact, Gilbert described him as a "workhorse" who took on his share of cases and jury trials.

Gilbert said he discussed the problems with Riley and his wife, and they said Riley was not taking any treatment for diabetes, high blood pressure and possible continued transient ischemic attacks.

"An uncontrolled diabetic condition can cause a variety of symptoms and health problems," Gilbert said, including some of the behavior described in Riley's case.

Gilbert said he had to force the retirement because Riley did not appreciate his own health problems and the effect it was having on his duties as a district judge.

Gilbert said that he worked hard filling a long-time vacancy on the bench, and shortly after Judge David Herndon was appointed, Riley's health problems came into play.

He said that other senior judges in the district have "stepped up to the plate" to take over about 300 of Riley's cases, but he is hoping for a prompt reappointment to prevent more delays in the court process.

U.S. Sen. Richard Durbin (D-Illinois) has announced a judicial merit commission will begin accepting applications for the federal judge vacancy left by Riley's retirement.

The commission will review applications until the close of business Jan. 7, then forward the names of the finalists to Durbin, who will recommend one of them to President Clinton.

He is expected to take the advice of Durbin, the state's senior senator of the president's party.

Durbin also will consult with U.S. Sen. Peter Fitzgerald, R-Ill., before making a recommendation to the president.

Anyone interested may obtain application material from Durbin's Springfield office at 525 8th St., Springfield 62703. The telephone number is (217) 492-4062.

was sentenced to five years.

In March 1984, he was arrested for raping a 28-year-old Pontoon Beach woman and was sentenced to three years in prison. He was released in February 1985.

One month later, he entered the home of a 34-

McCabe's sentence in the last case was to have been completed as of today.

A prison psychiatrist said in a report included with the state petition that McCabe has been released from incarceration five times and has never gone more than seven months without being arrested again.

Granite City sophomore Kelli Mitchell scored 10 points against Cahokia on Thursday.

Cahokia can't stop attack of Warriors

4 reach double digits for Granite City

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Granite City had four players in double figures Monday and knocked off Cahokia 65-49.

Senior Jessica Wallace led the charge for the Warriors with 16 points. Sophomore Erin Tyler pumped in 14. Senior center Sarah Luehmann had 12, and sophomore Kelli Mitchell had 10.

"It's good to get everyone involved in the scoring," Granite City coach John Moad said. "But we didn't shoot very well. We came out flat again early. The game should have been over in the first half, but we missed around 10 layups. It has been our problem all year, that we miss a lot of easy shots. We had a 10-point lead for most of the game, but they cut it to two in the third quarter. But we responded in the fourth quarter."

The explosion offset 31 points from Cahokia's Keyanna Taylor, who led the Comanches back from the brink of extinction. After trailing by nine at the half, Cahokia cut the Warriors lead in the third down to two.

But the Warriors scored 27 in the final eight minutes to salt away the victory. "Erin Tyler played a great fourth quarter," Moad said. "When we ran away with it, it was because of her. She is good enough to keep the ball in her hands and she did that. She gave us a great fourth quarter."

"The game should have been over in the first half, but we missed around 10 layups."

John Moad
Granite City coach

"We shot free throws well down the stretch. We shot real well from the line, and that is what we have to do in close ballgames like this. We won because of our free-throw shooting and playing smarter."

The Warriors improved to 4-10 on the season. The performance wasn't flawless, but the girls were starving for a victory.

"We could have played better, but we needed a win going into the (Nashville-Lebanon) Christmas Tournament," Moad said. "We got that."

The Warriors open play in that event Monday at 4:30 against Greenville at McKendree College. "This tournament is not easy," Moad said. "We will have to play well to do well. We would like to have a winning record in the tournament, which would mean winning two of the three games. The girls are capable of beating anybody if we play well. We have some talent."

Warriors finish fourth in Springfield Tournament

Kirgan, Grammer win titles at event

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

On Saturday, Granite City finished fourth in the Springfield

PREP WRESTLING
Joe Bee Memorial Wrestling Tournament, an annual mid-season showcase of Illinois' best wrestlers.

The Warriors finished behind champions Mahomet-Seymour (ranked 14th in the state), who beat out Moline by six points. Third place Mt. Zion tallied 147 points, while Granite's 136 points were good enough to top LaSalle-Peru, the No. 12 team in the state, which finished fifth in the 17-team field.

The Warriors placed seven wrestlers in the top six in their respective weight classes, including senior George Kirgan and junior Bobby Grammer. Both took home first-place trophies.

Kirgan won the title at 171 pounds by pinning all three opponents he faced, including a tournament-fastest 40-second fall in the finals against Mahomet-Seymour senior Ryan Armetta. The win put Kirgan at 13-0 for the year with 11 pins.

Grammer won at 189 pounds with two falls and a major decision, including a pin of Bloomington's Dustin Casey in the finals. Casey had pinned Grammer in a dual match three weeks ago.

"Bobby has been wrestling very well since the Clive Memorial match (Dec. 9)," Granite City coach Allen Kirgan said. "He is more focused and doesn't waste a lot of time and energy on nervousness like he has in the past. As long as Bobby keeps his focus he will be real hard to beat."

Tom Tedesco finished third at 130 pounds. Jake Trtanj (119 pounds), Chad Wilson (125 pounds) and Jake Janek (215 pounds) captured fourth-place honors. Justin York placed sixth in the heavyweight division.

Wilson dropped a 5-1 decision in the semifinals to eventual champion Andrew Kisler of Mahomet-Seymour. In the third-place match, Wilson dropped a 4-2 overtime decision to Chad Watson of Mt. Zion.

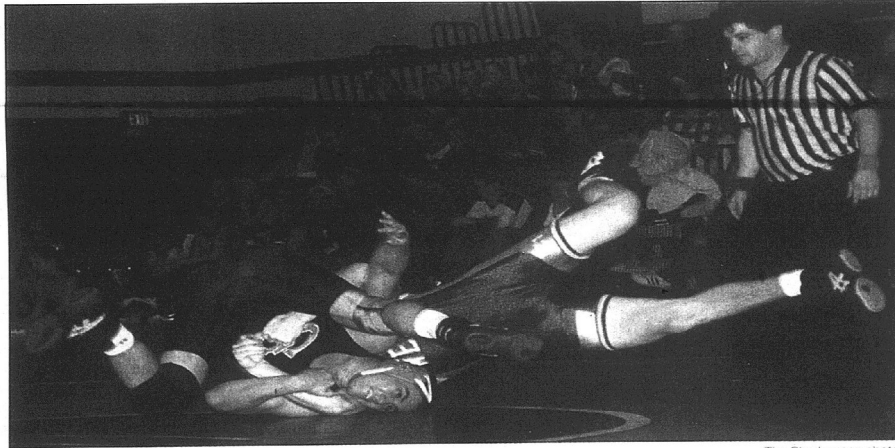

"Both Wilson and Trtanj wrestled very well," Kirgan said. "I felt there were some questionable calls in Chad's match, but you have to be able to overcome those."

Trtanj lost a 7-1 decision to fourth-ranked Rob Roofs of Peoria, who went on to be the champion. Trtanj lost a 1-1 double-overtime ref's decision to LaSalle-Peru's Keith Witalka, the defending champion, in the third-place match.

"It was a shame someone had to lose," Kirgan said. "Both kids gave it everything they had. I was very proud of Jake. I can't ask anything more of him."

While they didn't come out on top, the Warriors set a good standard for their own upcoming event.

"The team as a whole performed fairly well," Kirgan said.

"We were one place-winner from beating Mt. Zion. I'm sure there are a couple of guys who feel they should have been that place-winner. Fortunately they won't have to wait long to prove themselves."

The Warriors hit the mats Monday and Tuesday in the 39th Annual William "Red" Schmidt Holiday Tournament.

"The Holiday will be a good test," Kirgan said. "We have two-time Holiday champion

Oakville (Mo.), Springfield champions Mahomet-Seymour, Civic Memorial, who won their own tournament, Mascoutah Tournament champions Edwardsville, and a host of other metro powers. With teams like (St. Charles, Mo.) Francis Howell North, Hazelwood (Mo.) Central, and Belleville West, this may be the toughest tournament in the metro area."

First-round play begins Monday at 11 a.m.

Hurdles don't dissuade Waller from job at Ramsey

If there ever was a person determined to be a head basketball coach in high school, it has to be Rich Waller. Waller, a Collinsville resident, accepted the head girls basketball job at Ramsey last summer despite some incredible circumstances.

First of all, this is Ramsey's first season of girls varsity basketball. Second, the Ramsey Grade School has had girls basketball for only three seasons. Ramsey High School has an enrollment of only 144 students.

And then there is the drive - 110 miles round trip from Collinsville to Ramsey, which is located near Vandala.

Yet, Waller, 46, has managed to look at the bright side of the picture. "It's a lot of fun," he said. "I wanted to coach at a small school where all the people get behind the program. I have to remind myself at times that we're learning and not to get caught up in the wins and the losses."

Waller is a rookie in the varsity ranks but has coaching experience in the Collinsville School District. He coached six seasons at North Junior High as the seventh-grade girls coach and spent three seasons at Collinsville High - two as freshman coach and another as the JV coach. Last season at 900, he had 56 players try out for the seventh-grade team.

When Waller started tryouts Nov. 1 at Ramsey, only seven players showed up. Eventually, 12 players wound up in the program, but two have since been lost - one to an injury and another to grades.

"With our low numbers, we asked the girls if they just wanted to play a tryout schedule rather than a junior varsity schedule, but they said, 'no,'" Waller said. "They said they wanted the experience. By the second half of the varsity game, most of the girls are pretty tired because they also have to play in the JV game."

The numbers have forced Waller to make adjustments in the schedule. Last week, for instance, because of injuries, his team was down to seven players so the Lady Rams could play only a varsity game against Kincaid. At other times, Ramsey has scheduled only freshman-sophomore games against certain schools.

Waller is encouraged by what he sees at the grade school. He says three or four of the players "will be ready to step in next year," headed by 5-foot-10 Amanda Casey.

The makeup of this year's team is three juniors, two sophomores and five freshmen so Waller should have most of his players back, plus the two who are out currently.

Some of his better players include 5-6 junior captain and point guard Jackie Kircher and 5-6 freshman guard Natasha Lorton. He also has a foreign exchange student from Germany, 5-10 junior Suzanne Berg, who is just learning how to play the game.

"Hopefully the numbers will increase," he said.

Another positive Waller sees is that he could be the school's girls softball coach this spring.

"I'm seriously considering it," he said. "I think it will help the basketball program because I'll get to know more girls. I might be able to talk them into coming out for basketball. I believe there is more basketball talent than what is coming out for the team right now."

While making those long trips to Ramsey, Waller is usually accompanied by his son, Jason, who serves as the volunteer assistant coach. The elder Waller said Jason, 20, a student at Belleville Area College, very well could be the Ramsey Grade School girls basketball coach next season.

"Coaching is something Jason has an interest in, so this would be a good opportunity for him," Rich Waller said. Rich Waller also has gotten his wife, Debra, involved in the program. She has helped in raffles for quilts and craft baskets to help raise money for the program.

"In many ways, the situation at Ramsey is like the movie 'Hoosiers,'" Rich Waller says. "Even to the point that I drive the school van to the games."

On one such occasion in a tournament at Jacksonville in November, Waller didn't get to work until 1:30 a.m. He usually starts his job as a mail sorter at the downtown St. Louis Post office at 11:30 p.m.

"My bosses have been very cooperative," Waller said. "I really don't need much sleep, about six hours per day."

"The boys program has had some success over the years," Waller said, "so I can't see why the girls can't. The girls and I have got to be patient. Next year, I know we'll be better."

Warriors overcome slow start

Granite City boys blast Belleville East after dropping the first contest

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Like their female counterparts, the Granite City boys had no trouble with Belleville East.

The Warriors jousting a bit at the beginning but managed to spear the Lancers and take a convincing 28-10 victory at Bowland Lanes last Thursday.

Granite got off to a shaky start, dropping the first game 771-755, despite a 223 from Calvin Powell.

"We did real well overall," Warriors bowling coach Bill Puhse said. "But we didn't start off real strong. Travis (Papp) bowled a 191, which is perfectly respectable. He picked every spare that he could, but he left himself some splits. Brad (Smith) struggled a little bit. "So we lost the first game by 17 pins. But we came back and got three of four individual points, and were down only 3-6 even though we lost that first game."

The Warriors regrouped, reasserted themselves, and smoked East in game two, 832-684.

"We came back real strong in the second game," Puhse said. "I substituted Gary Brooks in and he did well, bowling a 196. Travis came back with a 258. So in that game we took eight of nine points and were leading 11-7. We really rebounded from that first game well."

"We will try to regroup a little..."

Bill Puhse
GCHS coach

The Warriors held on to win the third game, and the match, in what became a war of attrition and dehydration.

"In the third game the fact that the lanes were drying up really caused some guys to struggle," Puhse said. "Belleville East subbed in guys to try something different. That last game was like a contest of who could pick the most spares. We won the third game 7-2 and eight of nine overall points for the series. So we still persevered to the very end."

The Warriors are off until a match with Belleville West on Jan. 6 at Bel-Air Bowl in Belleville.

"We will try to regroup a little and work some on our consistency," Puhse said. "We will try to get ourselves going in the right direction."

"We have four away matches left. Now we have a chance to beat these teams in their house and show them that we are a championship-caliber team. We are really looking to play Alton in their building. They are the only team we have lost to and they are still undefeated in the (Southwestern) Conference."

Girls roll over Lancers

Reynolds helps Granite City pin SWC loss on East

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

The Granite City girls came into their match with Belleville East last Thursday at a distinct statistical disadvantage.

The Warriors had bowled an average of 50 pins less per game than the Lancers. But you can't measure heart with numbers, and the Lady Warriors showed that they have cardiac muscle to spare, rolling over Belleville East 32-4. Granite pulverized a team

"We definitely have a good shot at the Southwestern Conference title now."

Bill Puhse

that had no experience with losing. "That was the first loss for Belleville East in the Conference since they began this three years ago," Granite City coach Bill Puhse said. "They are real tough. They have been averaging around 770, which is a little over 100 per bowler. We have been averaging 720, so we were looking at a 50-point deficit every game. But being at home was an advantage."

Shelly Pulaski thundered out of the gates with an astronomical game one, as the Warriors headed to victory. "They rolled a 600 in their first game, and we rolled an 817," Puhse said. "We were 100 over our average and they were 170 below theirs."

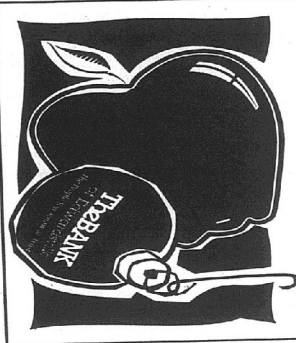

Pulaski finished with a 286 in game one. "Shelly had strikes on her first 10 throws," Puhse said. "That was phenomenal. It lifted us so much. With Ashley Reynolds rolling a 225, before they knew it, they were down 217 total pins overall, which is a lot, especially for this team. They kind of fell apart and struggled from then on out."

While Pulaski came back down to earth after the opening game, Reynolds rolled on to finish with a 675 series.

"Ashley was real consistent," Puhse said. "All three games she was in the 220s, which is phenomenal. She was like clockwork out there. She found her line and stuck with it. She was throwing the ball real well."

The win kept the girls undefeated in the Southwestern Conference at 5-0-1, and got them to 6-1-1 overall. "We definitely have a good shot at the Southwestern Conference title now," Puhse said. "But I still believe it will have to be won by going through Belleville East. With our tie (against Collinsville), if this is their only loss, we will have to beat them. We have three weeks to get ready for them in their house. I believe that whoever wins that one will win the conference."

The Warriors girls are off until Jan. 6, when they return to action against Belleville West at Bel-Air Bowl in Belleville.

FUN FACTS OF 1999

• Two families, the Jarretts and Pettys, have won championships in NASCAR's premier series. Dale Jarrett's 1999 championship complemented the two titles (1961, '65) won by his father, Ned. What you might not know is that Ned also won the championships in 1957-58 of the Busch Series predecessor, the Late Model Sportsman Division. Or that Ralph Earnhardt, Dale's father, won the Sportsman championship in 1956, joining his grandson, who won the BGN championship in 1998-99.

• If Dale Earnhardt Jr. wins rookie of the year in 2000, he will be the first second-generation winner of that award, his father having won it in 1979.

• It took Richard Petty from 1959 to 1971 to win $1 million in his career. No driver ever won more than $1 million in a season until 1985, when both Bill Elliott and Darrell Waltrip did so. This season 38 drivers, some without a single top-10 finish, topped $1 million.

• Twenty-three qualifying records were set in 1999. Seven marks for race average speed were set. Jarrett's average speed at Michigan in June (173.997 mph) was the fastest ever for a 400-mile event.

• For the entire season, the total difference between first and second place was 1 minute, 4.065 seconds. Some single Formula One events had greater margins than the entire Winston Cup season. The season's closest finish was at Talladega, where Earnhardt edged Jarrett by 114/1,000ths of a second.

• Tony Stewart and Joe Nemechek became winners for the first time. David Green, Kevin Lepage and Stewart won their first poles.

• Out of the 69 drivers who competed in the season's 34 races, 45 led at least one lap. Bobby Labonte led 30 out of the 34 races, most of any driver.

THE WINSTON CUP CIRCUIT

This book just arrived: Greatest Races: The 25 Most Thrilling Races in NASCAR History, by Tom Higgins with a foreword by Ned Jarrett (Harper-Entertainment, $30).

NASCAR polled drivers, members of the media and fans to select the races

Included here. Thirty-one races are actually covered: Nine occurred during the 1990s, 14 from the 1980s, three from the 1970s, one from the 1960s, two from the 1950s and two from the 1940s.

And they're not all from the Winston Cup Series or its predecessors. For instance, a 1981 modified race at Martinsville, won by Richie Evans after he crashed with Geoff Bodine and rode sideways down the front-stretch wall to the checkered flag, is included.

There are a number of firsts: Daytona 500 in 1959,

Southern 500 in 1950, Brickyard 400 in 1994. But also the book has sections on "Incredible Comebacks," "Amazing Attempts," "Classic Duels" and "Fabulous Finishes."

All in all, not a bad addition for anyone's NASCAR library.

PROFILE

Todd Bodine

Todd Bodine (left) is the youngest of three racing brothers.

By Monte Dutton
NASCAR This Week

Todd Bodine, the youngest of three racing brothers, completed the 1990s as one of the Busch Series' more reliable performers and perhaps the first driver Winston Cup car owners call on in the event of injuries to their drivers.

Still, Todd has never quite found the Cup opportunity that would allow him to "stick" in NASCAR's premier series.

For three years (1994-96), Bodine was a Cup regular, and he has had one pole and four top-five finishes.

As a Busch Grand National regular, however, Bodine has 10 career victories and is considered a prime contender for next year's title.

AGE: 35
HOMETOWN: Chemung, N.Y.; now lives in Davidson, N.C.
WIFE: Lynn
CHILDREN: Ashlyn Marie (1)
CAR: No. 66 Phillips 66 Chevrolet Monte Carlo
BGN MILESTONES: Last win (Fontana, Calif., 1997), best points finish (2nd, 1997), last pole (Nazareth, Pa., 1993)
RECORD: BGN - 204 starts, 5 poles, 10 wins, 56 top-five finishes, 211 top-10s, more than $2.3 million in career earnings
IS IT TRUE THAT YOU ACTUALLY DESIGNED THE PAINT SCHEME OF YOUR CAR? "When Phillips 66 came on board as our primary sponsor, we immediately went to work trying to come up with new paint schemes. Phillips 66 executives submitted a few examples, and I submitted the design I came up with. I wanted to create something that kind of jumps off the track so it would be easy to see running with a pack of cars. After all, that's the purpose of being a primary sponsor. After reviewing all of the possibilities, my design won the vote of approval."

WHAT GOT YOU INTERESTED IN ARTISTIC DESIGNS? "When I look at things around me, I'm always critiquing their design. For example, when I look at some of the paint schemes of cars around the garage, I think about how maybe one design is really good, or I look at a paint scheme and think about how it could be done better."

WOULD YOU ONE DAY CONSIDER MAKING A LIVING THAT WAY? "If I wasn't racing, I would definitely want to be working somewhere doing some kind of graphic design. Right now, it's a nice hobby. Now, after I finish with my racing career, who knows what will happen?"

WHAT'S THE KEY TO WINNING A BUSCH SERIES CHAMPIONSHIP? "You don't learn when your car is all bent up, sitting in the garage, or when you are just limping around trying to get points. You have to be out there racing. We want to be consistent."

Trackside Trivia

1. Who won the fastest race in NASCAR history?
2. Who was the first driver to win in a car owned by Richard Petty that The King wasn't also driving?
3. What northern state hosted two of the eight races in the first season of NASCAR's Strictly Stock (now Winston Cup) Division?

1. Mark Martin at Talladega in 1997; 2. Bobby Hamilton at Phoenix in 1996; 3. Pennsylvania

Local Dealer Plans To Sell Cars For $9.00

GRANITE CITY: Excess used car inventory forces price slashing in Granite City, this Wednesday 29th, for one of ILLINOIS most respected Chevrolet dealers.

• A Dollar Savings Report

The high volume of new car sale in 1999 has created a glut of used cars in the market. Dealerships are experiencing excess inventory exposure and higher expenses as a result. Weber Granite City Chevrolet is slashing prices in a sale announced for Wednesday, December 29, 1999. Some prices will be slashed as low as $9.00. No, that's not a typographical error - $9.00 each!

Over $3,000,000 of quality used vehicles will be on sale. Retail prices are to be slashed to rock bottom prices with some being lower than ten dollars. Prices during this sale will be drastically slashed with $20,000 vehicles being sold as low as $12,000, $15,000 vehicles being sold as low as $8,000, $10,000 vehicles being sold as low as $4,000, and $5,000 vehicles sold as low as $1,000!

The General Manager was asked why his dealership would knock prices down so low. He responded, "car sales have been tremendous and our inventory has just gotten out of hand. We've got to move vehicles out any way we can."

When asked how Weber Granite City

Chevrolet can sell cars for $9.00 and make money, The General Manager replied, "obviously we're in business to make a profit, but our bottom line gets hurt if we have too many vehicles in our inventory. We've got to bring in customers and sell this excess inventory any way we can. Some of those nice people are going to get the bargain of their lives when they drive away in a perfectly fine car for less than ten bucks."

The General Manager was asked how this special sale works. Weber Granite City Chevrolet vehicles will be displayed in a fenced in area, under a big tent on the lot next to our dealership on Rt. 3 & Pontoon Road. Granite City Prospective buyers can begin to register for the event at 4:00 p.m. on Wednesday or if they wish to avoid long lines, they are welcome to pre register on Tuesday from 5 pm - 8 pm here at the dealership. The inspection period will last from 4 pm - 6 pm on Wednesday.

The regular price for each vehicle will be posted in each respective windshield. At precisely 6 pm on Wednesday, the "County Slasher" will arrive and begin to slash prices on every vehicle in the fenced in area. The person sitting behind the wheel of any vehicle when the regular price is slashed will have the first opportunity to purchase the vehicle at the new lower price. All prices will be slashed to the lowest possible price (including five vehicles of $9.00 each). Add tax, title, license and documentation fees and you're out the door!

Prices will continue to be slashed until the inventory is reduced by at least 2 million dollars or 2 pm, whichever comes first. When that point is reached, the sale will be over and the dealership will return to business as usual.

Over $3,000,000 of quality used vehicles will be available during this special sale along with food, beverages, entertainment and valuable door prizes. Past credit problems will not be a problem for buyers. Representatives from local lending institutions will be available to offer immediate financing and credit approval. There will be special financing for first-time buyers and for those who have credit blemishes. Regardless of your credit history, all you need to bring is your current driver's license, payroll stub and proof of address. No finance application will be refused. Trade-ins are also welcome. It's going to be a day full of fun and excitement for everyone, rain or shine!

Registration and inspection starts at 4 pm on Wednesday and the price slashing begins at 6 pm, December 29th, at Granite City Weber Chevrolet, Rt. 3 and Pontoon Road.

Trivia Quiz

As the year draws to a close, it can be interesting to look back at what was presented as entertainment over the previous 12 months.

In movies, my favorites were "Election," starring Matthew Broderick and Reese Witherspoon, "Bowfinger," with Steve Martin and Eddie Murphy, and "The Straight Story," with Richard Farnsworth. Others worth seeing included "The Limey," "The Sixth Sense," "South Park: Bigger, Longer and Uncut," "Dogma," "The Castle," "October Sky" and "The Matrix."

In addition, kiddie movies such as "The Iron Giant" and "Toy Story 2" were good enough to amuse adults along with children. "Star Wars: Episode 1 - The Phantom Menace" was not bad, but did not offer the same thrills as the original "Star Wars" pictures.

The biggest film disappointment for me was "The Wild Wild West." I loved the old TV show and looked forward to the movie, which stunk. Any episode of the television show packed more excitement than this flop.

There is no such thing as "Must See TV" anymore as far as I am concerned. The television programs I tried to catch during the last year were "The Drew Carey Show," "Everybody Loves Raymond," "Friends" and "King of the Hill" on the major networks and "Win Ben Stein's Money" and "The Daily Show" on cable. Also, I believe the "Late Show with David Letterman" towers over every other talk-show.

Y2K creates millennium fever

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The survivalists will be hunkered down with hoarded food supplies and the drunks will cause their usual havoc.

The rest of us (I'm sorry, but I had to work it in somewhere) are going to party like it's 1999.

While the real deal is a year away, the hubbub over Y2K has created millennium fever and it's time to make plans.

The bars, nightclubs and hotels will have their usual New Year's bashes; many churches are going to pray in the new millennium and the big First Night celebration is planned in downtown St. Louis.

But many people are planning more sedate affairs, either staying home or going to small parties.

Wonda Karibian of A-1 Party and Wedding Rental in Collinsville said they are selling a lot of Year 2000 merchandise - every kind of hat, streamer, wine glass, beer mug and noisemaker known to man stamped with 2000, but in small quantities.

Wonda Karibian of A-1 Party and Wedding Rental shows off party favors.

"We're having a lot of people coming in who are buying a couple of hats, a couple of noisemakers," she said. "They're just buying a few things for their home and that's it."

While most of the items will probably be thrown away after the party, a few - especially the beer and toasting glasses, might eventually become collectors' items.

"They're just worried that people are going to really party this year," she added. One area seeing a lot of growth is the New Year wedding.

Last year, she said they didn't have any on Jan. 1, but this year they have at least 15.

So whether you are going to a large party, or just staying home with family and friends, remember that one of the best ways to bring in the new year will be to jeer at the survivalists who now have to get rid of a three-year supply of bad-tasting tinned meat because the apocalypse didn't come.

And if they are right or even partially right, just remember...

Coal-oil lamps are not going to have any problems with microchips and checkers are always Y2K compliant.

Show explores giant

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

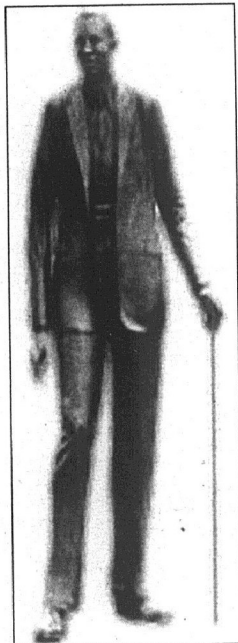

The Man of Steel soon will meet the Gentle Giant. That's not a World Championship Wrestling match coming up on pay-per-view. Instead, it will be part of a new "Ripley's Believe It Or Not" television series on the TBS network. A film crew was at the Alton Museum of History and Art on Friday to film a segment about Alton's most famous native, Robert Wadlow.

Although he wasn't in town for the taping, Dean Cain will be the host of the series, which will debut Jan. 12. Cain is best known for portraying Superman in the recent "The Adventures of Lois and Clark."

The film crew actually consisted of director Tony Virga, who's based in Los Angeles, along with a cameraman and sound man from St. Louis. Mary Ann Warmack, coordinator of the Alton Museum, was interviewed for the television show, along with Dr. Joseph Paone and Gene Crivello.

"The story of Robert is a

Show explores Alton Giant's life

real 'believe it or not' type of thing," Virga said. "We'll try to do it in a way that is respectful of everyone involved. One thing we will talk about is why Robert will likely always be the tallest person ever."

That's where Paone, an Alton vascular surgeon, came in. He talked on camera about Wadlow's overactive pituitary gland and how that likely would be treated at an early age today.

"We believe he will always remain the tallest person in recorded history," Paone said. "The only way that might change is if someone in a backward part of the world grew to that height and didn't get any kind of treatment."

There likely will be little on the show that those who are familiar with Wadlow's story won't already know. Warmack spoke at length about Wadlow's life, which is almost second nature to her as the tour guide of the museum.

"They spend a lot of time here shooting, and very little of it will actually be shown on television," Warmack said. "But it's still great for Alton and for the museum that national television would come here to do something."

Warmack and Paone were interviewed Friday morning. The film crew was to meet with Crivello in the afternoon. Crivello knew Wadlow personally and often goes out into the community to tell the story of his friend, who grew to be 8 feet, 11.1 inches tall before his death at age 22 in 1940.

Virga and his crew also shot footage at Wadlow's statue across College Avenue from the museum and at Wadlow's grave at the Upper Alton Cemetery.

"It's good to get the community involved," Warmack said. "Schwegel's donated two grave blankets for the grave just for this."

"We didn't shut down the museum today, but we did kind of have to be careful about having people walk in and making noise while they were taping."

Virga said the Wadlow feature would not run during the Jan. 12 episode but likely would appear several weeks later.

Entertainment

Test your 1999 trivia knowledge

It may be that I am getting older, but there was little in new music that pleased me in 1999. Randy Newman's "Bad Love" and Santana's "Supernatural" were two of the better albums released. Marshall Crenshaw's "447" also is a good listen and I liked what I heard from the group Garbage. I can not stand to hear the latest versions of New Kids on the Block such as the Backstreet Boys. Yuck.

In sports, I had a great time watching Mark McGwire smash home runs again, but it would be hard to beat the thrills provided by the St. Louis Rams this season. Their offense has been incredible. I would like to be the quarterback for a game with a chance to hand off to Marshall Faulk and pass to three speed-burners.

Since I do not keep up with modern literature, I can not comment on that form of diversion. The best book I read was "The Boys of Summer," by Roger Kahn, but that work came out in the 1970s.

For this week's trivia quiz, the topic is entertainment from 1999.

1. Who are the two stars of the long-awaited Stanley Kubrick film "Eyes Wide Shut"?

2. Which team won the NBA championship after a strike-shortened season?

3. Which rock group's album was declared to have caught up with Michael Jackson's "Thriller" as the only other album ever to sell 25 million copies?

4. Whose book, "All Too Human: A Political Education" deals with the author's relationship with President Bill Clinton?

Horoscopes

There's a strong chance you will form an alliance in the year ahead with a person who views life differently from you, yet it will be the perfect balance for working successfully together.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Take extra pains to be tactful and diplomatic today no matter how much in a hurry you might be. If you are too blunt or frank, you could ignite some real sparks by tried people.

Capricorn, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send the required refund form and for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and self-addressed stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This could be a day when jobs you've been sweeping under the rug may rear their ugly heads, revealing a large pile of neglected duties that will haunt you until they're done.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Try to avoid involvements today with groups, cliques or gatherings that contain persons you dislike. Things could happen now that wouldn't ordinarily occur.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It may well be the fault of the holiday season, but regardless of this fact, if your performance has not been up to standards, your boss may not take kindly to it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) People in general could be more defensive than usual today, so avoid topics of con-

Keep the issues light and breezy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Try not to take on any greater financial obligations when shopping today than you can comfortably manage in the future. What looks jolly now could look gloomy later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
If you don't take on the responsibility for making any decisions today that involve others, someone else may jump in and make one for you that you don't like. Don't be wishy-washy.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Have both method and motive in mind today before you approach your work if you hope to be productive and get things done in as timely a fashion as you would like them to be.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
It would be a mistake today to put yourself in a minority position that would make you feel impelled to defend. Try to go with the flow and don't buck the majority.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Be tenacious and persistent if you hope to achieve your objectives today. If you're not, chances are you may get close to your goals without attaining any.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Positions with which others might have been in accord yesterday could now be challenged by them for no visible reason. Trying to force them to comply would only make matters worse.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Let's hope you have your Christmas shopping done today, because in your haste to get it accomplished, your vision could be blurred as to what is truly of real value.
